Anniversaries

This Lord's day is the tenth anniversary of our first regular assembly in what was then our new facility. We are going to celebrate the occasion with some remembering and with a forward look. We plan to have lunch together, and our evening meeting for the day will be in the early afternoon, and we are hoping you will join us.

Anniversaries of various events are almost always thought by some to be just another day. I suppose it depends on how much of one's self was invested in the event originally, and how much his or her interests and efforts have revolved around its implications during the intervening time. Surpassing interest and sacrificial effort tends to lend significance to an occasion.

What kind of significance? Well, the kind that puts meaning into human experience. In our case, for example, this anniversary is a marker of how rapidly a decade may be spent, and how much living can be loaded into it, and how much our circumstances can change, and how unexpectedly. It is a moment to count our blessings, and to remember the people through whose efforts they have come, and to recognize our indebtedness to so many. It is a milestone of successes and failures, hopes and hurts, kindnesses extended and mercies received.

An anniversary like this is an exercise in heart-health. It is a declaration that something important, once begun, is still present and valued, and is continuing. It is an expression of respect, gratitude, and humility. It is a renewal in our pursuit of what we considered worthy of our hearts and hands in the first place.

On this occasion, then, we give thanks for each other, and we appeal for the Lord's help and his blessing as we go forward in his service together. Enjoy the day!

– Bill McFarland

The death of my daughter Lisa has left her family brokenhearted. I am so grateful to my brothers and sisters for the prayers, cards and kind words of sympathy. It is truly a blessing to be a part of Christ's church at such a difficult time. The roses I received from Water Mill touched my heart. Please keep Lisa's family and myself in your prayers as we mourn the loss of our wife, mother and daughter. In Christian love, Beverly McCormick
