About Our Work

We hope you and yours had a good Fourth, one that allowed you a little time to rest, reflect, and rejoice in our good fortune to live where we do, when we do. We appreciate the positive comments from you who were with us for our devotional time Wednesday evening. We are trying to invest the week in thinking through the ministry a congregation of citizens of heaven have toward their country here. There is ample evidence of the timeliness of this theme, so we invite you to be with us Sunday as we conclude our consideration of it.

This Wednesday evening we'll resume our Summer Series, "He Is Everything to Me." These presentations are about the meaning and applications of the "I am..." statements of Jesus that are preserved for us in the Gospel of John and in Revelation. Robb Hadley is our speaker this week and the subject is "I Am the Resurrection and the Life." Don't miss it!

Remember to pick up your copy of the 3rd quarter of our Daily Bible Reading plan. Besides the need to feed on the word that we all share, we think you would enjoy joining in the fellowship of making our way through the scriptures together. This is a great time to either renew your involvement in this project, or just to jump in and get started.

I know some of the things my brothers and sister have done over the last few days. I know of visits that have been made to hospitals and homes, classes that have been prepared and taught as always, meals that have been prepared and provided, service projects done by young people, Bible courses received and sent, assemblies planned and served in, a food pantry stocked and served, and quilting projects, among other things. I also know, of course, of many things we didn't get done, and of places where we need help. We ask you to pray for us and to help us do our best.

Besides the things that are part of our work every week, I've invested a bunch of time in this past one putting together a series for a Bible camp session. It begins just a week from this Sunday. Please join us in praying that it will be a blessing to a lot of people.
