Our Life Together

Several new things have begun during the past week. New school years, new grades, new stages, new jobs, new friendships, and in some cases even new problems. How do we manage such developments well? With gratitude, respect, and hope. One helpful ingredient is the recognition is that anything new to an individual is not to a people. Anyone should, therefore, be surrounded by understanding, compassion, and support as he encounters experiences that are new to him. And that should be one purpose we serve in our life together.

Now that our summer series has concluded, several of our Bible classes will be beginning new topics this Wednesday evening. A new series of devotionals before class time will also begin. Please use the occasion as a time to grow, to renew the degree of your involvement, and to encourage teaches and others who are serving.

Our best wishes to Alison and Jeremy as they prepare for a new stage in their lives. We hope the wedding shower will let them know we're on their side, as well as helping them get off to a good start. Welcome also to members of their family who are visiting us this Lord's day.

Do you underline, circle, or make notes? As you are doing your Bible reading, I mean. You may have noticed some great verses from one of our readings this week, Psalm 94. For example:

For the LORD will not forsake his people;
he will not abandon his heritage. (v. 14)
When the cares of my heart are many,
your consolations cheer my soul. (v. 19)

Such beautiful statements are especially meaningful when we realize they are made when the proud wicked seem to be having their way, and God's people are crying, "How long...?" We remember that the sacred writings are for real life. Make time to read from them and meditate upon them this week.

– Bill McFarland

Prayer List and Notes

Welcome Visitors

We are honored that you joined us. We hope you will be blessed by your time with us. We have an attended nursery, a cry/training room and a nursing mother's room for your convenience if you have small children. Please fill out an attendance card and pass it to the end of the pew so that we may thank you for your visit.
