"SOUND" AND "FAITHFUL"

"Sound" and "faithful" are two good adjectives that, by usage, have been redefined.

"Sound" means "healthy" and "whole." By usage it has come to mean, "agrees with me on a specific list of issues." Some cantankerous church splitters have been called "sound."

"Faithful" covers a whole life-style, "walking in the light" and "walk in the footsteps of the faith our father Abraham had." As it has come to be used, it just means "regularly attends church." One who was always in congregational assemblies and often served or led was found to have had several sexual affairs over a period of several years. Someone said, "And all that time he was a faithful member of the church."
