The Lord’s...
Our New Sunday Series

I love the story of the two disciples who, without realizing who it was at first, got to walk to Emmaus with Jesus the day he was raised up. When they did recognize him that evening, they immediately hurried back to Jerusalem to tell the others. Imagine their excited pace—and their anticipation—as they made that seven-mile jaunt back to town! But when they got to the others, and before they could deliver their astonishing news, they were met with, “The Lord has risen indeed, and has appeared to Simon!” I wonder if “the Lord” didn’t sound a bit different right then. The Lord...even of death itself.

It was not long before Peter was standing with the others there in Jerusalem declaring, “Let all the house of Israel therefore know for certain that God has made him both Lord and Christ, this Jesus whom you crucified.” It was then, and is now, a claim that challenges the heart of everyone who hears it.

“Lord” may be a term that we take for granted. We should not. “The Lord” means the Owner, the Master, the Ruler. Applying the title to Jesus, not Caesar, was to become a matter of life and death for these people. Even more importantly, “the Lord” identified him in rank with “the LORD” of their translation of the Old Testament—the eternal God!

So, as we are reading Acts, let’s refresh our hearts and imaginations with the implications the confession we share: Jesus is Lord. Let’s notice the things in Acts that are said to be the Lord’s—things that are his; things of which he is uniquely the Owner, the Master, the Ruler. When we meet, let’s think through what it means when we encounter phrases that speak of “the _____ of the Lord” (the things that fill that blank). Given who he is, I expect that we will find these things to be quite meaningful.

I’ve found my Lord and He is mine, He won me by His love;
I’ll serve Him all my years of time, Within my heart, His throne.

—Bill McFarland

to know each other over various games of (you fill in the blank). We will have a wall of sign up sheets in the east end of the foyer. If you'd like to bring a game, create a sign up sheet with your name and the name of the game (card, board, field, court, any type of game) at the top.
