Our Life Together

“First of all then, I urge that supplications, prayers, intercessions, and thanksgivings be made for all people,...and [and] for all who are in high positions, that we may lead a quiet and tranquil life, godly and dignified in every way” (1 Tim. 2:1-2). Part of our work in meeting together is to pray that all who are in authority will act in the interest of righteousness and justice, and that all people may experience such conditions. As individuals, we each have the right to our own views about what would best serve these interests, but in church, we are all together to make intercession for all people. Our work is urgent. Everybody pray for our country.

Next Lord’s day is a really important day for us. It’s promotion day for all our children in our Bible School! Our young ones will be moving up to their new room or to their new grade level. This, too, is one way our life together is translated into actual experience: our cooperation in the teaching and learning of the Lord’s word. Working together, we can facilitate both social and spiritual development in all our lives, whether younger or older. We are deeply grateful for the faithful service of teachers, for the joyful interest of children, and for the loving effort of parents. Let’s have a great year of wonderful Bible classes!

Thanks to all of you who planned, prepared, or produced the end-of-summer cookout and celebration last Sunday evening. You made it a very enjoyable occasion, and it was a lot of fun. Especially for that reason, I think, it was much needed. It was good to just appreciate each other and to count our blessings.

Thanks also to all of you who are helping us with the “pounding” to resupply Becky and Tim with some of the smaller things they’ll need when they transition to their house they’ve been rebuilding after the fire. We love them, and we appreciate your demonstration of brotherly affection.

It’s been so good to have a number of guests with us in our meetings recently. If you’re one of them, thanks for being here, and welcome! For the rest of us, remember that we want to “seek to show hospitality” by being as warm and friendly we possibly can. Thank you for being the welcome!
