This Week

I am forever grateful for the grace my brothers and sisters in the Lord have extended to me through the years. People have been kind to me in spite of my limitations and weaknesses, and when I didn't deserve it. That's what grace is, isn't it? Anyone who is dependent on the Lord's grace also requires the grace of other people. And it's in being kind to the ungrateful and the evil that we become merciful as our Father is (Lk. 6:35-36). Thank you for acting as His family toward me for so long.

We're focusing especially on the Lord's Supper this Lord's Day. It's not unusual that we would observe the supper together. That's our first reason for assembling on the first day of any week. But that's also why it will be good for us to be reminded of what we're doing, and why. I hope this the time to be especially edifying and encouraging to all of you.

I'm glad our congregation purposely tries to do some things to nurture intergenerational relationships among us. I believe doing so is crucial to giving all of us a sense of well being, and it's a big step toward our remaining faithful and fruitful. Thanks to you younger ones who are involved in the Ties that Bind program. Thanks also to Travis and Pam for their organizing work. We're looking forward to the lunchtime activities today.

Monday I'll have the privilege of teaching a class in the Crowley's Ridge College Lectures. I've been trying to think it through for a while. We appreciate our Erica's work with CRC. She and David Deffenbaugh are going to have to bear the responsibility for however my class turns out.

I know our elders have put in many hours of thought, prayer, and conversation over the ideas we all gave them about our deacons and their tasks. I am so thankful for these good-hearted brothers and what they give of themselves. Thank you all for helping them.

--Bill McFarland

Welcome Visitors

We are honored that you joined us today. We hope you will be blessed by your time with us. If you have small children, we have a nursery with a nursing mother's room and a cry/training room for your convenience. Please click on the QR code on the front of the bulletin to leave a record of your attendance. We hope you can stay around for a few minutes so we have the opportunity to meet you.
